Al Gore came out AGAINST ethanol in gasoline.

Last week the Wall Street Journal reported:

Al Gore, in a speech in Greece, said "It's not a good policy to have these massive subsidies for first-generation ethanol." "The benefits of ethanol are trivial" he added. It serves no purpose other than re-electing incumbents and transferring wealth to farm states and ethanol producers.

During the George W. Bush years Big Ethanol adapted , attaching itself to the global warming panic that Mr. Gore did as much as anyone to foment. Republicans in congress formalized the mandate and increased subsidies in the 2005 and 2007 energy bills.

Meanwhile the greens have slowly turned against corn ethanol, thanks to the growing scientific evidence that biofuels increase carbon emissions more than fossil fuels do....

Second generation ethanol, such as biomass, may be better.

"Note Mr. Gore's objection only to 'first generation', though we've been hearing that advanced ethanol is just a year or two away from viability for two decades."

Bob's reply: THIS IS GOOD.

GM may take over the number one position in car sales in the next quarter. With Toyota's recall problems sales are down and buyers are looking at other makes. GM is only short about what they sell in trucks a year. They are interested in the quality of their vehicles and not so much to be number one again.

The membership list is in a different document. (I can't get the computer to sent it to the newsletter document without it being totally distorted)Please look it over and let me know what is wrong so I can change it. No matter how many times I look it over something is still wrong.

How many of you are sick of the snow? As I'm writing this, more is on the way. The way is sounds a lot more. Just think in two months some if not most of the snow will be gone.

Is it too early to talk about club dues? They are going up this year to $20.00 single and $30.00 family. I will be running a form to fill out and mail them in if you can't make the meeting.
